Juror's Comments: There are very well done works of art and there are works that demonstrate the struggle to create works that are very good yet are still not quite up to the potential of the artist's abilities. Keep working, it would be in your best interests. The commitment of all the artists in this show is there for all to see and applaud.

Richard Reed – 08/19/16

Twilight in the Wilderness Oil by Frederic Edwin Church 1860

FREDERIC EDWIN CHURCH (1826 – 1900) was an American landscape painter born in Hartford, Connecticut. He was a central figure in the Hudson River School of American landscape painters, perhaps best known for painting large panoramic landscapes, often depicting mountains, waterfalls, and sunsets, but also sometimes depicting dramatic natural phenomena that he saw during his travels to the Arctic and Central and South America. Church's paintings put an emphasis on light and a romantic respect for natural detail. In his later years, Church painted classical Mediterranean and Middle Eastern scenes and cityscapes. from Wikipedia
